Dear Patty (nikki and margaret) We are so sad by this. He was a good hearted person and treated all of his dear friends with love and generosity. As we became to know him better we learned to love him. We pray he is at peace now. We know it will leave a big empty place in your hearts. Jan was a trusted colleague and a brilliant physician. I have missed his presence since he retired and I send my condolences to his son, who I saw only once, and to Patty. His son should know that Jan was a valuable part of my life for many years.

Finding out that Jan died, is the passing of a person that always knew...there would be a bridge over troubled water. He has passed over that water and is released to the energy of the Spirit. Bless you for caring

...the rest of his life is devoted to the energy of the spirit, just for learning for Jan and sympathy goes to those that loved him. I knew Jan in the mid 70's at University of South Florida while taking calculus and Biology classes. He loved to party then...

God Be With You Jan. I am so shocked to find out that Jan has passed on. I met him during his time at COMS in Des Moines. We dated for a short while. He was so smart, generous and funny! It has been many years, and I was trying to make contact with old friends from the past and am very sorry to know he is not on this earth, but we know for sure that he is with our Lord! God Bless Patty and his son. My prayers are with you.

I was interested in reconnecting with Jan when I came across this. Unbelievable. I was a medical school classmate of his in Des Moines Iowa. Lived a few doors down in the same apartment complex. He was one the smartest people I ever met, and the most fun. I went to his (amazing) home in Upland, Ca. in 1990..last time I saw him. For some reason we lost touch. I thought about him a lot...how he sailed through school without ever seeming to open a book. How before he came to Iowa he had never experienced snow. His apartment that had no furniture but the best stereo I had ever seen. His friendship..he would always ask if I wanted to come along if he was going out/partying (his plans were usually more fun than mine). He was probably the most dynamic guy I even knew. Bar none. Made med school a great place to be. My condolences to his family. He will be missed.
